

Concert Dancer Requirements

The Seattle Civic Concert Dancers (SCCD) is a non-profit company based at Seattle Civic Dance Theatre School (A separate entity from the school). SCCD is at this time solely reliant on donations and volunteer efforts made for fundraising. The dance company provides a performing outlet for talented local dancers. It culturally enriches the community and the city-at large through professionally oriented performances and activities. During the year, our dancers perform at functions for various civic and private groups. The dance company gives young dancers the opportunity to perform on a professional level, exposure to the communities and perform with other dance companies as well as prepare for auditions, jobs, scholarships and other outlets for talents and skills. Ages of the company range from 14 years through Adult. Along with participation for the younger members, we believe that older dancers need opportunities to perform beyond their school years and encourage them to do so.
